Welcome to my collection of experiments created mostly between 4 and 8 am,

The "4-8am" label gathers video art, video poetry and new media experiments produced by Christophe Bruchansky between 2004 and 2008: hybrid productions mixing video, manga illustration, first-hand photography, looping soundtracks, writing and conceptual modelling. "4-8am" refers to the hours during which some of the projects were made, between 4 and 8 am. It is also a time aside from the rest of the day, propitious to lyricism and philosophy. The projects are available on this web site and occasionally on exhibitions and festivals.
